HUNDREDS MAROONED IN AIRPORT CAR FIASCO

Harlow family among those stranded by valet parking firm's errors

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MIDWIFE and her family from Harlow were among hundreds of returning holidaymakers forced to "camp out" for hours after staff at a Stansted Airport valet service were unable to find customers' cars or car keys.

The Meet & Greet service run by Empark is meant to allow people travelling to leave their car in safe hands while they are away. But a mistake at the weekend led to "significant delays" when workers at the desk could not reunite drivers with their cars.

Holidaymakers Veronica Fuller, a midwife at Princess Alexandra Hospital, her husband Paul, a property manager at Intercounty estate agents in Bishop's Stortford, and their daughter, Charlotte, 14, a pupil at St Mary's Catholic School in Stortford, were among crowds of people left waiting for hours for their cars to turn up.

Nightmare

Stansted Airport has apologised to all passengers using the Meet & Greet parking services late on Saturday and into Sunday for the delays and has promised that any additional costs and parking fees will be reimbursed.

The Fullers, who live in Davenport, Church Langley, Harlow, were returning from a two-week holiday on the island of Rhodes in Greece when they walked into a "nightmare" after their flight landed at Stansted at 2am on Sunday.

They had paid £121 for a secure parking service intending to get home as soon as possible, and had expected their car to arrive in ten minutes – instead they had to wait six hours.

"Much to our horror there were people sleeping on the grass verges waiting for their vehicles," said Mrs Fuller.

"The police were called due to the upset of the clients and the inability of the staff to sort it. It turns out cars are parked off site in a field. No one knew where our cars were.

UNWELCOME RETURN: Stranded Empark customers at Stansted

The family could not believe what was happening.

"We did not know what was going on. Some people had been there for eight hours," said Mrs Fuller.

"We did not get our car back until 8am.

There was no apology and no information. There was no damage to our car but it was filthy. We checked it over thoroughly."

A Stansted Airport spokesman said: "Stansted Airport sincerely apologises to all passengers using Meet & Greet car parking services late Saturday night/early Sunday morning who regrettably experienced significant delays with the return of their vehicles.

"This was due to a number of unforeseen technical and operational issues at the service operating company.

"We have requested an immediate investigation into the full circumstances of the situation as the service provided during this period obviously fell short of the standards expected, and to ensure these issues don't occur again."

He added: "Our customer service staff helped provide assistance and refreshments to delayed passengers and sought to make alternative arrangements for passengers to get home or stay in local hotels, if necessary."

Any additional costs incurred by passengers affected will of course be reimbursed. Stansted will also be contacting all those affected directly to reimburse the full car parking costs due to the inconvenience caused."

Empark was not available for a comment.

TRANSFORMATION: Construction work has begun to transform the 1960s-built estates of The Briars, Copshall Close and Aylets Field in Harlow

Work starts on £71m regeneration scheme

More than 340 homes will replace 1960s-built estates

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

CONSTRUCTION work has begun on the first phase of a multi-million scheme to transform three 1960s-built housing estates in Harlow.

More than 340 homes will be built at The Briars, Copshall Close and Aylets Field in the Staple Tye area of town.

Under the £71m scheme around 200 affordable homes will be constructed, with a mix of apartments, terraced, semi-detached and detached homes. Of these, 103 homes will be built in the first phase, with 53 affordable homes for rent or shared ownership.

Opportunities

Green spaces, new landscaping, roads, parking, improved cycle and pedestrian routes and a new community centre, as well as training opportunities for people, will be created as part of the development.

The development is a partnership between home builder Countryside, affordable housing provider Home Group and Harlow Council.

Affordable rental and shared ownership properties will be managed by Home Group.

Harlow Council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, Tony Durcan, said: "I am delighted that construction work to create new homes and a new community has begun.

"This major regeneration programme, when completed, will meet our promises to residents to provide more and better housing and to regenerate Harlow.

"Providing new housing opportuities, improving local people's quality of life and transforming areas like this are all vital to building a better Harlow."

The new development will replace outdated post-war bungalows on the three estates, which did not meet Government decent homes standards.

The approved plan was designed by award-winning Gardner Stewart Architects.

The regeneration is part of the council's priority estates programme, with residents and the local residents' association involved in the design and development work.

Richard Cherry, chief executive of Countryside Partnerships division, said: "This is the start of a very exciting chapter in the regeneration of these estates, working in partnership with Home Group and Harlow Council to deliver high quality, well designed homes for local people in an attractive environment.

Proud

"Countryside has a strong track record in Harlow and has been building homes in the area for nearly 60 years and we are proud to be playing our part in the transformation of the area."

Executive director at Home Group, Brian Ham said: "Home Group has a proven reputation for working with partners to regenerate areas.

"We're excited that work has started on site and we're looking forward to working with Countryside and the council to provide modern, energy efficient, attractive homes, which will improve the area and people's lives."

Fun day raises thousands for charity that supports families

DANCE-OFF: Families bust a move at the Upwards with Down's fun day

UPWARDS with Down's raised a massive £4,500 with its annual fun day at The Link in Parsloe Road, Harlow.

Families enjoyed live music, stalls, games, a barbecue and a prize raffle at the fundraiser where all proceeds went to the charity which supports people with Down's Syndrome, their families and carers.

Cristina Griffiths, chairwoman of the Upwards with Down's charity, said: "We could not have asked for a better day."

"The weather was amazing and everyone was having fun."

"We raised £4,500, which is absolutely amazing."

"However, we still have more money coming in over the next few weeks."

"The funds will go long way towards helping continue supporting our members through different activities that will enhance their lives."

Acceptance

She added: "More importantly though, the day as well as about raising money was about raising awareness and gaining acceptance of people with Down's Syndrome."

"Ultimately if we can change even one person's perception on Down's Syndrome then we have accomplished what we have set out to achieve."

Gym and jewellers to take over former M&S

'We're keeping the town up to date and moving forward'

William Mata

THE next generation of shopping has arrived in Harlow's town centre with the announcement of two new businesses.

"Affordable gym" XERCISE4LESS and jewellers F Hinds are the first two chains to confirm they will move into the former Marks and Spencer store in Broad Walk, which is owned by the Harvey Centre.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said: "This proves, that along with the new Cineworld complex in the Harvey Centre, we are re-shaping the town centre."

"We will be bringing new retailers to the town."

"They are actually ahead of schedule. Two units are ready to be taken over."

XERCISE4LESS is now advertising

PROGRESS: Alistair Barros-Pearera and Bryan Young inside what will be the new shop

STRIPPED BACK: The inside of the former Marks & Spencer store in Broad Walk membership deals on their website, starting at £9.99 per month.

The chain will take over the first and second floor of M&S, offering mixed martial arts and boxing areas as well as weights.

F Hinds is expected to start work in the next few weeks and is already advertising the opening and recruiting staff.

The three-storey unit was occupied by Marks and Spencer for many years before it closed in January 2015.

Many residents felt the closure had left a hole in the town centre. Department store BHS also recently closed to leave another empty unit.

But regeneration works have been going on for some time and Mr Young said the new businesses will refresh Harlow Broad Walk and shopping centre.

The six-screen Cineworld cinema inside the main Harvey Centre building should open by the end of the year according to plans.

Exciting

Mr Young continued: "The most exciting thing is we will be able to keep the town up to date and keep moving forward. The type of business we are bringing in will increase footfall and hopefully increase revenue."

Alistair Barros-Pearera, site manager, added: "We are very happy, everything has fallen into place. It has been going very well."

Dad's 550-mile cycle ride thank you to charity

THE dad of a little girl with a life-limiting illness has cycled 550 miles to repay the charity giving their family precious memories.

Ben Lewsey, 27, completed the ride from Hertfordshire to Inverness in Scotland in ten days along with pals Ollie Brooks and Dean Cakebread.

The trip, which was completed on Tuesday August 2, has so far raised £1,124.50 for the Kisses4kids charity which provides treats for sick youngsters.

Ben's family, of Potter Street, Harlow, receives support from the charity as four-year-old daughter Skye has a life-limiting condition.

They are so grateful to the charity's support - having sent them to Disneyland Paris as well as on UK holidays and day trips - Ben has become a trustee.

He said: "Skye has a rare genetic condition which means she has a short life expectancy. She is four and is the size of an 18-month-old with a life expectancy of about six or seven."

"The charity makes sure we have lovely memories for the short little life Skye has. They are helping us to give Skye - and her brothers Harrison and Tyler-James - the very best in life. The charity is absolutely amazing and welcomed us with open arms."

Experienced cyclist Anthony

Donachie, from Ware, completed a cycle from his home town to Lands End in 2012 with Ben and so used his experience to manage the route and team for the latest trip.

Dean had to join Anthony in the van when he stretched a ligament on day four, but was able to get back on the bike to cross the finishing line.

Theatre gets a facelift after online campaign

Crumbling seats replaced ahead of autumn season of plays

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

WATCHING a play at Victoria Hall Theatre has never been more comfortable now the auditorium seats have been replaced.

After an 18-month drive to raise the £30,000 needed to replace the 20-year-old seats, the work was finally completed at the venue in Bury Road, Old Harlow, this week.

Martin Colton, chairman of the Victoria Hall, said: "It's great to have the seats in, everyone that uses the theatre is pleased and grateful to the people that have contributed."

"We previously had two rows of new seats installed and after over a year we are nearly there."

"Lots of local businesses have got involved and donated money for the seats. We stretched our outreach and all of the resources to do this."

An online crowdfunding campaign fell short of the required amount after the initial 60-day push and Victoria Hall was not able to replace the seats in August last year as previously hoped.

Two rows of seats were installed last year but the full 120 have now been swapped from the crumbling old ones to a comfy replacement in time for the autumn season of plays.

The old seats have been donated to the Church of St. James in Stanstead

SUCCESS:
The team behind the campaign

Abbotts. A ramp will also later be added to the venue to aid access for disabled audience members.

However, the theatre is still looking for donations as £27,000 has now been raised, meaning it is still £3,000 short of the target.

Contactors have agreed to help Victoria Hall, which acts as a charity, by installing the seats under agreement that the remaining balance will be paid as soon as possible.

Mr Colton added: "They (the contractors) understand we are a charity, they are a local company, and all the seats are going in now."

"They are installing them in good faith so we have got to pull out all of the stops to find the money."

"They know we have been trying hard. We would like to find the rest of the money as soon as possible."

If you would like to donate, email vhpaa.org@gmail.com.

Widow's plea for information over alleged asbestos at town's college

THE widow of a man who died after he was allegedly exposed to asbestos at Harlow Industrial Training College is appealing for information from anyone who worked or studied at the college.

Bella Gray, 58, was married to Nigel Gray for 29 years before he died last year, aged 57, after he was diagnosed with mesothelioma, an asbestos-related cancer.

Mesothelioma is caused by exposure to asbestos particles in the air and it can take 20 years from being exposed for symptoms to begin.

The life expectancy for someone diagnosed with mesothelioma is usually less than 12 months. However, Nigel endured the disease for just three years after he was diagnosed in 2012.

Nigel studied at Harlow Industrial Training College, in Perry Road, Harlow, in 1976 and then spent a period working at the college where he helped to erect and demolish temporary buildings at the college. He was 19 years old.

Planning permission documents from Harlow Council confirm asbestos was present in these huts being built at the time, and lawyers believe this is when Nigel was exposed to the dust.

Bella has instructed Daniel Easton, from law firm Leigh Day, to investigate the case.

Mr Easton said: "We are appealing to anyone who used to work or study at the college who may be able to provide further information about asbestos at the college, particularly in relation to the temporary buildings, which we know Nigel worked on."

Nigel and Bella have two children, Samantha, who is 29, and Kevin, who is 28.

Bella describes Nigel as "a loving husband and her best friend. I will never find another person like him".

Cyclists raise £75k for PAH breast unit

A TEAM of 40 fundraising cyclists took on the tough Prudential RideLondon-Surrey 100 race and raised a mighty £75,000 for the Princess Alexandra Hospital's breast unit charity.

#TeamBreastCharity2016 looked spectacular in their custom-designed pink and black race kit and they enjoyed the gruelling ride from the Queen Elizabeth

Olympic Park and finishing back in the capital, on Pall Mall.

While the average rider takes four to six hours to complete the race, the unit's fastest rider was father-of-two Chris Lomas, who finished in four hours 55 minutes.

Chris said: "It was a tough challenge but it makes it all worthwhile to know we have raised a tremendous amount of money for such a worthy cause."

The team's race kit was kindly sponsored by the Sunseeker Motor yacht Group, Aitch Group, Boodles Fine Diamond Jewellers, Harisch & Partner, Challenge Accepted, Chase Distillery, Peters and May Group, Winged Boots, Gen 2 Retail Solutions, Williams Jet Tenders and Bertoli & Associates Superyacht Lawyers.

Hospital takes over popular home service

Mum, 36, praises care she received

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A POPULAR hospital service has been brought back in-house a month earlier than planned due to "unforeseen circumstances".

Bosses at Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust in Harlow announced on Monday that the contract for Hospital at Home, which has been run by ORLA Healthcare since 2014, had been terminated.

The contract had been due to expire at the end of September but due to "unforeseen circumstances" the trust has assumed responsibility from today – a month ahead of schedule.

The replacement service will be provided by the trust and be known as the Patient at Home service.

Trust chief executive, Phil Morley, said: "This is a challenging and exciting time for the trust and the wider health and social care services, who we are indebted to for their strong support at this time."

"It is a great opportunity to work collaboratively across health and social care services to develop and deliver patient centred care in the community."

The service aims to reduce hospital admissions, release bed capacity and to reduce length of

CHANGE:
Princess Alexandra Hospital

stay by offering treatment to patients needing acute care in their own home instead of being admitted to hospital.

Sara Cordwell, 36, who lives in Church Langley, Harlow, used the ORLA-run service in February after she was diagnosed with pneumonia and septicemia.

"It was a fantastic service with excellent care on a regular basis at home," said Sara. "I liked the fact I still got to be at home with my husband and seven-year-old daughter whilst still receiving a great in-patient care."

She added: "I was slightly worried about the care before I was sent home but having hospital at home meant my daughter still had her mummy by her side and I still had my home comforts. Unfortunately, my daughter has seen a lot of hospitals at such a young age and I didn't want her to see me in that environment, so being at home was perfect."

However, Ms Cordwell raised concerns about how the service will run under the hospital with tight NHS budgets.

"How long will it be before they stop the service due to having no funds," she added.

Clinical lead consultant Rishi Prasad said: "Our Patient at Home service will be provided through acute medical care, led by senior physicians and be supported by trained nurses and allied health professionals."

"We want to reassure all patients that the trust take full responsibility for the delivery of the service and are excited to take it from strength to strength."

Welcome & preparation

■ Staff will ask you to read the welcome leaflet, which explains the importance of blood safety. It's important to read this whenever you attend because advice does change

■ You will be given 500ml of fluid just before you give blood. Drinking this over about five minutes will help with your wellbeing during and after donation.

Health screening

■ Staff will make sure it is safe for you to donate, and that your blood donation is safe for a patient to receive

■ They will confirm your identity and ask you about the information on your donor health check form; a registered nurse may follow up if necessary

■ A drop of blood will be tested from your finger to check haemoglobin (iron) levels in your blood. If you are not able to donate, staff will explain why, and may ask you to make another appointment

■ If you are able to donate, you will be asked to sit in a waiting area until you are called to a donation chair

Your blood donation

■ When you are comfortable on the chair, you will be asked to confirm your name, address and date of birth

■ Staff will examine your arm and place a cuff on it to maintain a small amount of pressure during donation

■ Staff will then examine your arm to find a suitable vein and clean it with an antiseptic sponge

■ A needle will be inserted into your arm, which will collect your blood into a blood bag with your unique donor number. You should not feel any discomfort or pain. If you do, tell a member of staff

■ A scale weighs the blood and stops when you have donated 470ml (or just under a pint). This usually takes between five and ten minutes

■ The needle will be removed and a sterile dressing applied to your arm

Save a life by making a blood donation

HERTS and Essex Newspapers have teamed up for a campaign urging people to give blood and save lives this summer. This week, the Hertfordshire Mercury, Midweek Mercury, Herts and Essex Observer and Harlow Star launch their effort, as Laura Burge explains...

YOU can save a life this summer – and it will only take a portion of your day.

Herts and Essex Newspapers – which includes the Mercury, the Observer and the Star – is campaigning for people to consider donating blood.

During the summer holidays, blood stocks traditionally come under pressure, as people get distracted by holidays, sporting events and the warmer weather. So we want people, if they are able, to sign up for a session.

Over the coming weeks, we will be speaking to prolific donors and people who have benefited from a transfusion.

Employees at Herts and Essex Newspapers will also be giving blood themselves over the coming weeks.

Julie Palmer, senior editor for Herts and Essex Newspapers, said: "We are delighted to be launching this campaign, and urge people to get involved."

Encouraging

"You never know when you, or a loved one, may come to rely on this service. We will also be encouraging all of our staff to donate at an upcoming session."

Hospitals in England rely on around 6,000 units of blood a day to treat patients.

The blood donated is precious, and sessions are planned so patients always get the blood they need.

Wish people would not dump rubbish

SIR, ON walking along Parsloe Road from Summers down towards the Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, I could not believe how much litter was strewn almost all the way along the side of the road. It virtually trailed the whole length of it.

There were numerous empty beer cans, sweet wrappers, a load of broken glass at one point and even a whole bag of empty beer bottles had been dumped there.

Much of the rubbish had been left on the other side of the road starting from where The Link club is.

I doubt that residents living in the area would leave it in a state like this.

There was even a pair of grubby old socks lying in the road at the start of one of the turnings leading into Burnett Park.

Some of this litter looked like it had been there for a while as the wrappers looked quite faded.

I wish that people could take their rubbish home with them instead of using the area where I live as a dumping ground.

Are they too lazy or ignorant to find a bin to put it in?

Plus I noticed the sign that says 'No Motorcycling' had been ripped off and was lying on the pavement.

The Summers area is, at its best, a really lovely part of Harlow and is almost rural in its setting.

For weeks the grass in Summers park was uncut and now there is all this litter.

I wish that people would not dump their rubbish on attractive greenbelt areas, it is so disrespectful.

Sometimes I don't know why residents bother to keep their gardens looking so nice when all the rubbish lying around looks disgusting.

People that drop it all over the place and leave broken glass and beer bottles should be ashamed of themselves and should tell their children not to chuck their sweet wrappers everywhere either.

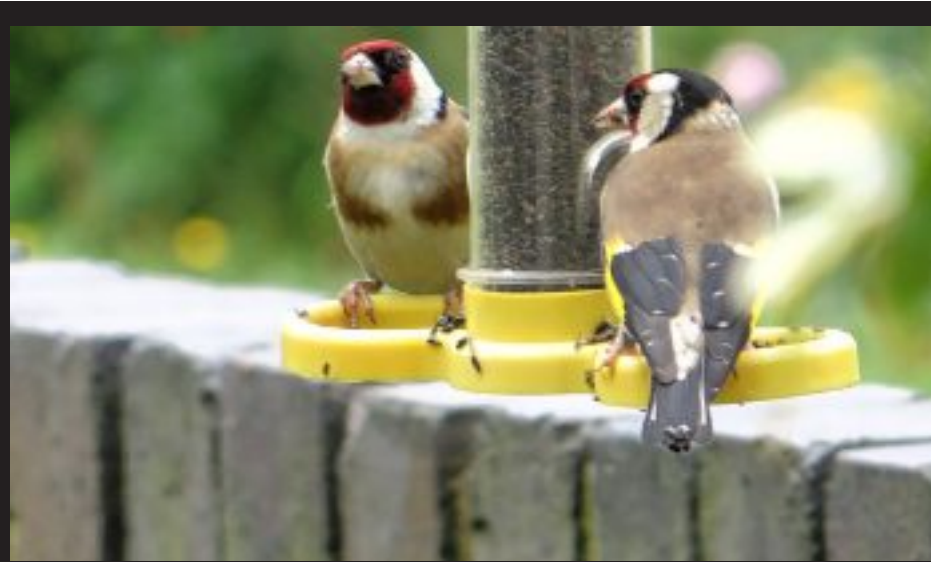

The broken glass is very dangerous to animals and there are deer and foxes around the area, as well as domestic animals that all deserve a right to stay safe.

I recently visited Caerphilly in South Wales, there is not a speck of rubbish anywhere and the whole place is beautiful.

The reason for this is that if anyone drops their rubbish there are CCTV cameras everywhere and that person will receive a hefty fine.

It's a shame Harlow Council can't have the same here.

READER'S PHOTO

■ Star reader John Curry of Old Orchard, Harlow, captured this image. He said: "The feeder and the contents had been in place for some time. The feed was disappearing, but we did not see who was taking it. Then this - goldfinches - who have visited frequently in recent weeks." If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to star@hertssexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address.

Saving could be made elsewhere

SIR, If councillor Clempner is looking to save £60,000 may I suggest that instead of closing the cash office in the Civic Centre that he persuade his fellow Labour councillors to forgo their generous responsibility allowances.

I very much hope Cllr Clempner is true to his word by holding full consultations.

Our Conservative representatives should ask that a full impact assessment be undertaken, and made public.

Elderly residents and the financially disadvantaged will find queueing at the Post Office tiresome enough but will feel aggrieved if they are obliged to pay the Post Office and/or the council a handling fee for making a monthly cash payment.

I can not imagine the town centre's hard-pressed retailers being best pleased with the council's wish to reduce footfall.

Whenever I pop into the Civic Centre to pay my council tax I invariably take the opportunity to do a bit of shopping.

Presumably, fewer residents visiting their own Civic Centre will also mean fewer trips to the Gibberd Gallery.

Then again, perhaps our well-paid public servants do not wish to share their plush offices with the hoi polloi?

Please think again, Cllr Clempner.

Guy Mitchinson
Joyners Field, Harlow

Cut grass less to help environment

SIR, Much newsprint has been devoted to the question of grass cutting, an over zealous approach simply creates a green desert, a monoculture hostile to the biodiversity upon which we all crucially depend.

It is also extremely wasteful, literally spending money to destroy the environment.

Bees, and other pollinating insects and various species of birds are in severe decline.

If verges are frequently cut back to preserve safe sightlines and sloped banks and planned areas within open fields seeded with meadow flowers, cut in planning rotation over five year cycles, we will not only save money, but the much-needed biodiversity would at least in part be restored.

We would all be able to enjoy the beauty such a regime brings.

Endless expanses of short cut grass are quite frankly very boring and does nothing for wildlife or for that matter the planet.

Cut less, plan and save money. As for children, yes let's have play spaces but in careful planned areas: educating the next generation about the need to look after the environment and for us to demonstrate how this works is far more important.

Edward Vine
Fenton Grange, Harlow

What is the point of the mud wall?

SIR, Can someone tell me why a high mud wall is being constructed along the cycle track and walk way of the Common? What is the purpose of it?

My husband and I often walk along there and it is now an eye saw, you can no longer see the view when walking along the track all you see is a high 10 foot mud wall. Why would you do this?

It also isolates you from the field when coming out of the underpass which is a safety issue surely. What was a lovely walk and about the only decent thing in this town is now being destroyed by the council. I just do not understand or comprehend the logic of this atrocity you are creating.

G. Harris
Fenton Grange, Harlow

Thanks for giving purse to police

SIR, I would like to convey a big thank you to the kind person who handed my purse into the police. It was stolen some time ago but found locally. I managed to retrieve the driving licence but my precious photos were destroyed.

I do hope the person concerned will read my message. Once again my great appreciation to the thoughtful person involved.

Name and address supplied

Move will affect vulnerable most

SIR, I read with interest your recent story in respect of the possible closure of the council's cash office based within the Civic Centre in 2018 allegedly saving the council £60,000. If it happens I suspect it will be on a par with the disgraceful decision to close the Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Centre.

Why? Well it would cost the council more money in the medium to long term and have the same effect on residents as when the council decided to close all its neighbourhood cash offices with a local councillor telling me it would save the council one million pounds. That is what is called taking the local electorate for fools on the back of a mendacious promise.

So why would the closure be so bad? Well it would reduce residents' options for paying their bills so they would delay payment which would result in more late payment letters being sent out at a cost to the council. This happened when the council finally closed neighbourhood offices.

In addition the council's legal recovery costs would increase with the poorest and most vulnerable affected disproportionately.

GOLD HOPE: Richard Chiassaro visits Kingsmoor Academy

Paralympian inspires at assembly

WHEELCHAIR racer Richard Chiassaro dropped into a Harlow primary school before turning his attention to the Paralympic Games.

The Harlow paralympian visited Kingsmoor Academy, in Ployters Road, to lead an inspirational assembly and answer questions from young fans.

His visit was the latest sporting activity in the school which has offered a large range of sessions this year and has a growing athletic reputation.

Richard holds the second fastest time of the year over 200m in the T54 wheelchair classification but took a moment out from his busy training schedule as part of an Active Essex campaign to promote sport.

Children watched a video of Richard's gold medal triumph over the distance in the 2016 IPC Athletics European Championships which were held in Grosseto in Italy in June.

They presented Richard with Paralympic-themed posters they had made of athletes racing and medal podiums.

Exchange pupils get a taste of life in Finland

'Grateful for the wonderful activities arranged for us'

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STUDENTS from a Harlow academy visited a secondary school in Finland as part of an educational and cultural exchange.

Seven pupils from Years 9 and 10 at Stewards Academy, in Parnall Road, spent five days at Puistola School in Helsinki to learn about Finnish life and language.

The teenagers spent the duration of the trip with the families of Puistola students whom they had hosted during a previous exchange in September 2015.

Tour

After arriving on Monday evening they were treated to a tour of the school and welcome assembly which gave Stewards' head teacher Rhonda Murthar a chance to thank the hosts.

A spokesman for the school said: "We talked about the similarities and differences between education in the UK and Finland. Finnish pupils were quite surprised to learn that most UK pupils wear a uniform, whereas Finnish pupils do not."

"Part of our visit to Puistola

ON TOUR: Stewards Academy students visit the science centre in Helsinki

School involved learning more about the Finnish language. Our Finnish hosts were very gracious and patient in helping us to pronounce Finnish words such as moi, which means hello, correctly."

On subsequent days Stewards visited Heureka Science Centre which is a short journey from Puistola and is used by many schools in the Finnish capital. They also toured the Suomen-linna sea fortress, a Unesco World Heritage site.

The spokesman continued: "Suomenlinna is a small island known as the Fortress of Finland which was initially built to help Sweden, who ruled Finland for many years, to control the Baltic Sea."

"Shortly before we left for Suomenlinna, we saw the Finnish Prime Minister, Juha Sipilä, walking to work."

He added: "Sadly, Friday marked our last day in Puistola School. Our pupils had the opportunity to make traditional Finnish food which was delicious. We will be ever grateful and appreciative for the wonderful activities which our Finnish hosts arranged for us."

"Their hard work, generosity and detailed organisation made our visit one to remember and cherish."

'Too cool for school' farewell

GREASE was the word for leavers of a Harlow school who performed the classic musical for an end of year play.

Year 6 students from Harlowbury Primary School, in Watlington Road, sang and acted out the 1978 film, which launched the careers of John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John.

The romantic comedy was a popular choice for parents and staff as well as the pupils who enjoyed the throwback to a 1950s American high school.

Classic

The plot sees leader of the T-Birds gang Danny struggle to win the affections of good girl Sandy. Classic songs, Grease and Summer Nights, featured in the end of term send-off.

Deputy headteacher Sarah Mitchell said: "The children really are too cool for school."

Joanne Fradd, a Year 6 teacher, added: "The children have been extremely motivated and worked so hard to put the show together and present it to such a high standard."

RANGERS CLUB

Leopard cubs born

TWYXCROSS Zoo is celebrating the arrival of two of the world's rarest big cats with the birth of a pair of Amur leopard cubs.

With fewer than 70 of the animals surviving in the wild, the Leicestershire zoo hopes the two cubs could become part of a wider, long-term conservation project to save the species.

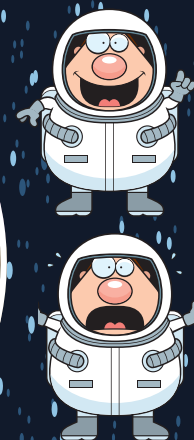

The young cats have not yet ventured outside their den, but visitors will be able to watch them via a live-stream on a big screen outside the leopards' enclosure.

Zoo keepers reported that there were no complications and soon after, the cubs, which have yet to be named, were already active.

Making memories at hospice

Families given opportunity to remember those who died with lasting memorial

MAKING MEMORIES: Ann Colvill with her late husband Brian

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

ST CLARE Hospice is giving families the chance to have a lasting memorial to their loved ones.

The Memory Tree in the entrance to the Hastingswood centre is adorned with gold, silver and bronze leaves which can be inscribed with a message about a friend or relative who has passed away there.

Different coloured leaves cost varying amounts to sponsor for a year. The donations help to cover the £4m annually needed to keep the hospice running.

St Clare Chief Executive Tanya Curry said: "Each leaf on the tree not only provides a beautiful tribute to a loved one's memory, but also will help another family going through one of life's hardest journeys.

"The Memory Tree has the potential to raise more than £130,000 in donations every single year for St Clare.

Vital

"That is enough to run our Patient and Family Support Service, which provides vital bereavement support and counselling, for nine months."

Bronze leaves cost £85 a year the amount which could pay for five hours of counselling support. Silver costs £256, which could pay for eight home visits from a clinical nurse specialist and gold leaves cost £592 which can pay for 24 hours care for someone in the Inpatient Unit.

Anne Colvill, 68, recently became a gold sponsor after her husband Brian sadly died from liver cancer at the age of 76.

St Clare cared for Mr Colvill during the final months of his life and his wife wanted to have something permanent to remember him by, and also help the hospice.

She said: "Everybody loved my husband Brian. He was just such a lovely, funny and caring man who loved life.

"We had the most wonderful 30 years together. I miss him every second of every day but I am just so glad in my heart that he came to St Clare.

"It was my greatest wish to have a gold leaf for Brian up on the Memory Tree at St Clare.

"The Memory Tree leaf is a lovely thing to have for my grandchildren as well."

Each leaf can hold 26 characters including spaces. For more information about the Memory Tree call (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclare-hospice.org.uk.

In brief

Passengers' views sought by county hall

HARLOW: Bus users are being asked for their views on changes to bus services across Essex.

Essex County Council (ECC) is running a public consultation on a number of routes it pays for.

Many of the services currently cost taxpayers more than £5 for every passenger carried, which is the maximum level of support ECC will normally give.

The proposed changes aim to support the future running of essential travel routes while offering the best value for money for the taxpayer.

The consultation started last week and will run until Wednesday, September 28.

Questionnaires will be available at surveys.essexinsight.org.uk/BusConsultation, from Essex County Council Libraries, or by phoning: 03457430430.

Paw Patrol pups will visit shopping centre

HARLOW: Chase and Marshall from Nickelodeon's popular show PAW Patrol will be making a special visit to The Harvey Centre on Saturday.

The pups will be appearing during storytime sessions, which are led by a narrator, at intervals between 11am and 4pm.

The sessions, part of the shopping centre's free kids' club, will run on a first come, first served basis, so visitors are advised to arrive early to avoid disappointment.

Retiring doctor set to travel the world

Surprise party and guard of honour for popular man

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A POPULAR Princess Alexandra Hospital doctor celebrated his retirement on his 75th birthday after 50 years in the medical profession.

Dr Gordon Read, a consultant clinical oncologist, began training in 1966 at Birmingham Medical School and held various posts before moving to the centre in Hamstel Road, Harlow, in 2000, initially as a locum before taking a full role.

Honour

His friends and colleagues held a guard of honour and a surprise party which included a cake decorated with a telescope in reference to one of his favourite hobbies, stargazing.

After giving a speech, Dr Read said: "It is a heart-warming home and I am grateful to all of my colleagues here."

"Princess Alexandra is the busiest hospital in the country for the amount of beds we have. But I have enjoyed my time working here."

"There is always great banter between the staff."

In his retirement Dr Read will travel the world giving lectures to medical schools, take more time to pursue ballroom dancing and visit Chile to enjoy stargazing.

At the party he shared memories of his time at PAH while dozens of colleagues took time out from their jobs to say farewell to an admired doctor.

Friends all donned bow-ties for the gathering, an item of clothing Dr Read is well known for, while Andy Morris, medical director at the hospital also gave a speech.

Paying tribute, Mr Morris said: "Gordon for me epitomises the standards of Princess Alexandra Hospital, he values it and does it."

"He is incredibly enthusiastic and energetic. It is a phenomenal achievement and he is an incredible man."

"I would like to thank you for your words of wisdom that has inspired me over the years. There are so few doctors like Gordon left now."

"You are a true gentleman and a doctor whom I wish we had more of in the NHS."

Dr Read specialised in breast and lung cancer, and more recently had contributed to palliative care for oncology patients.

Watch latest action from Olympics on big screen

A GIANT television screen will be erected in The Water Gardens in Harlow this weekend for residents to enjoy the Rio Olympics.

To celebrate the middle weekend of the 2016 Games, the shopping centre will place a giant screen in the middle of the landscaped gardens.

The screen will face towards the centre's restaurant row, with Nandos, Five Guys, Pizza Express and Frankie & Benny's.

Shoppers will be able to watch the live action from Brazil throughout Saturday and Sunday, on the lawn in giant deck chairs, which will be provided.

Atmosphere

The action over the middle weekend will include the start of the track & field events inside the main stadium, on what was known as Super Saturday during the London 2012 Olympic Games.

Centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "We are really excited about bringing a giant screen into the centre, and invite everyone to come and join us for what should be a fantastic sporting atmosphere as we cheer on Team GB."

Coffee shop Esquires have come up with three Rio-themed ice-cold drinks, which visitors can taste.

Hundreds visit Town Park for family fun day

Organisers say event was big success

NATIONAL fun day Playday was adapted for the older generation in Harlow Town Park by town charity Rainbow Services.

Hundreds flocked to Bring Your Grandparents to Playday last Wednesday for sports, drama and animal visits as well as advice about town services for the elderly.

Kelly Tarling, who is part of the Community Builder Project at the Wych Elm based charity Rainbow, who link town services, said: "It was really successful and I think we had more than one thousand people attend, lots of people were taking part in the activities."

Traditionally held on the first Wednesday of August, Playday sees thousands of children and families enjoy events up and down the country.

It is a national campaign that highlights the importance of play in children's lives. Rainbow Services adapted the event and invited the Harlow community to get involved.

FUN DAY: Families enjoy the event at Harlow Town Park

Ms Tarling explained: "There were quite a few grandparents there but there were also lots of parents who were taking information for grandparents."

"We had sensory play, storytelling from Harlow Playhouse, face painting, pond dipping and Pets' Corner came up with a petting area for small children."

The event was held near the Town Park bandstand while some visitors took the opportunity to visit the nearby Pets' Corner.

There were information stalls from services including AGE UK, a charity which supports the elderly, and ESSEX SEPT, which provides health and care.

This was the first time Rainbow Services held the fun day but Ms Tarling said the charity is open to holding similar events in the future.

She added: "We would love to do this again if we can, you never know."

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking have analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at 500 econometric models, across a five-year period and discovered that adding newspapers dramatically increases the return on investment of other media.

Over half were service companies who saw the effectiveness of their TV advertising double, ROI of their overall campaigns treble and their online digital display enjoy a four-fold increase.

Individual categories also saw impressive results.

Automotive campaigns clocked a 70% increase. In travel, effectiveness trebled. In retail it leapt by 2.8 times. And most remarkable of all, in the financial category, Benchmarking uncovered an increase of 5.7 times.

So, whatever business you are in, you should be in the newspapers.

Raising the spirits

Mondays are no longer mundane for members of a choir who are meeting at a Harlow pub.

Double Up Your Spirits has only been singing since March but has already doubled their numbers under the leadership of Emma Crossingham.

The Harlow mother of one said: "It is the best feeling in the world on a Monday night. We have been performing in The Herald pub (in Broadley Road, Harlow).

"It is fantastic. The bar is usually shut for us which is good as it is quite hard to sing in front of people. We have got support from Gary, the landlord, and it's nice of him to back us."

Emma, who is 44, started the choir in March after previously leading sessions at St Luke's Primary Academy, which she left in July 2015 and became a higher level teaching assistant.

She said: "I started the adult choir not knowing if I could do it, but it seems to be going all right."

"I advertised it on Facebook, I put it out to my friends and some of them have been coming along to support me. We have made some flyers too."

"It has come along really well. We have had a lot of support. We tried to enter for the Gareth Malone thing (a television contest for local choirs) but we did not get through but that is ok and it has otherwise been a success."

The new group is well attended but, like many choirs, Double Up Your Spirits is finding deeper voices harder to come by.

"So far we have got about 20 members, but only one man," said Emma. "Sadly he is out of action because of his heart at the moment."

"It's not holding us back, having less men, but it would be nice to have deeper voices too."

She added: "Most of the people all claimed they could not sing but they all make a nice sound together."

"We have a real good laugh and we really enjoy it. There is something about singing together and making that lovely sound that they make that can really lift your spirits."

Despite having only sung together for a few months, the choir has already performed at the Heart 4 Harlow Festival and at an event for the charity Livewire.

"We will sing anything," said Emma about their repertoire, "We sing a lot of modern stuff but also some songs from Sister Act recently. We will have a go at anything."

"At the moment we are looking for songs about a heart because of our male member who is in recovery. We hope to make a recording for him.

"We will be looking to do more performances in public. My plan is to contact Harlow Council and see what events are going on in town."

"I don't see the point in doing all that work and effort to not perform. It's nice to show off what we can do."

Double Up Your Spirits were on the same bill as the more established Harlow Community Choir at the Heart 4 Harlow Festival but Emma enjoys being part of her group for what it is.

She said of the festival: "That was the first thing that we did and it came off really well. We had to follow Harlow Community Choir and that was really hard going but it was really good."

"The only time I was part of a (music group) was when I was at school. I really enjoyed doing it. It has really grown from there and I have never been part of a choir before."

"I had opera training at school. I am not technically minded, I could just about follow sheet music but I do not play an instrument. People are happy to go along with it and we enjoy what we do."

STAR POWER

STAR MAN: Main picture, Simon Pegg as Scotty in Star Trek Beyond with Sofia Boutella and, inset, with old friend Nick Frost in Hot Fuzz

EXCLUSIVE: Tom Durham talks to actor and comedian Simon Pegg about his stellar career progression from Spaced to Star Trek

STAR Trek Beyond star Simon Pegg has boldly gone to Hollywood and become one of Britain's hottest exports to the film behemoth.

The Gloucestershire-born actor and writer's journey in film has taken him from the cult comedy Spaced, first aired in 1999, to outer space to act in his third film of the Star Trek franchise.

Last month, promotion took him to The White House to present, with the help of First Lady Michelle Obama, a private showing of the film for military personnel as part of her Joining Forces project.

Chatting exclusively to the Mercury from his home in a village in Hertfordshire, he aired his fears for the British film industry following the Brexit vote and said it was a question of "when", not "if", more films in the vein of the Cornetto Trilogy would be made.

Star Trek Beyond is the first of the three that you've been involved in where you've been a writer. There's been controversy in the news about the revealing of Sulu as gay. What was it like taking on such a huge and loved franchise?

Simon Pegg: It was kind of daunting because we didn't have a huge amount of time. They had a script which they decided not to go with and then they got Doug Jung and I in to start again from scratch in January of 2015, knowing that we would have to start production in June of the same year. It was a fairly tight writing time. With regards to the Sulu issue, it only really became a controversy because of the media making it that way. I don't think it was particularly controversial, really – it certainly shouldn't be in this day and age.

As a huge sci-fi fan yourself, it must have been a lot of fun acting in this film, taking on Scotty as a role. What was the most fun you had on set? How was it filming the set pieces?

From start to finish, you know, it was a huge amount of fun. It got more fun as we went on because the pressure on us as writers eased a little bit when we started production because we had the map of the scenes that we needed to address first. We had a schedule and we knew what was coming up. We were able to work with the cast individually on their roles just to make sure they felt their characters were singing and enhanced with their input so it was a really fun experience.

In July, you went to The White House where you met the First Lady. It must have been quite an experience?

Yeah, it was great. We had such a fantastic day. We were made to feel very welcome. The White House seemed such a friendly place, and to get to actually go inside it and get a private tour of the West Wing and meet Michelle Obama was absolutely wonderful. We almost met Barack. He was in a meeting with the defence secretary in the Oval Office and wanted to come out and say hi, but couldn't, because he was obviously very busy. But after they had finished a day's work, when The White House was a little quieter, we had a wander round and met Bo the dog, which was great!

You're being called one of the most successful Brits in Hollywood right now. You've said you prefer to live in Herts rather than Hollywood. What is it that stops you wanting to live over there, like some other British actors who have moved?

Well, my family is here and we've found a place that we are really happy to be in and it feels kind of real – away from the craziness of the industry a little bit. They don't really make films in Hollywood anymore anyway. There's a big machine there which the film industry works out of, but most films get made wherever the tax breaks are, which tends to be places like Atlanta and New Mexico or Canada. A lot (more) recently the UK. There's a huge amount of film production in the UK. I'm working at Leavesden Studios in Watford, which is great because it's like 20 or 25 minutes on the road. But even if that still wasn't the case, I would still want my roots here.

The film industry is such a global business nowadays that it's not like you have to be in the town where it's all centred. You can be anywhere in the world, and that suits me. My daughter's at school here, everything I relish about my ordinary life is here. I don't really feel like moving away from that.

Have you got quite a positive view of the health of the British film industry right now?

Yeah. I mean, we have no shortage of talent and ability and facilities. We have amazing studios here in Pinewood and in Luton, Elstree, Shepperton, Ealing. We have some of the most brilliant crews in the world. I don't know what this Brexit thing is going to do to us. I think that might have been a retrograde step for the film industry. Certainly we had a huge cash injection from the EU every year, which might not exist now. It was like millions and millions of euros that would come in to us. It's going to make it very difficult for our film professionals to move within the EU now without having to get visas. It's going to make it all very difficult. I think Brexit wasn't a good thing for the British film industry, and I just hope that we can continue to offer attractive propositions for overseas filmmakers and also to make our own movies. It's not easy. We don't get a huge amount of support from the Government in the arts and we'll probably get even less now.

The Cornetto Trilogy – it's known as a trilogy for a reason – but fans would like to know this: Are you going to be joining up with Edgar Wright (director) and Nick Frost again soon?

Yeah. I was just talking to Edgar today (July 29). We are obviously going to collaborate again, it's just a question of timing, really. Just because all of us are very busy. You have to sort of find a moment when you have the time spare, which is difficult. But it's definitely not "if" because we will do it and we are very keen to find the space, but that's the real trick. It's just managing to get our calendars synced.

Making your own colourful canal folk art

This week I had a wonderful afternoon chatting with Canal folk artist Duncan Burrett, who is owner and captain of a delightful narrowboat called 'Zendu' that is moored on the River Stort in Bishops Stortford.

Duncan has lived on the boat for 22 years with wife Zena. Ralphie and I often stop to admire Zendu, because not only is she the prettiest boat along the canal, but Duncan also sells a wonderful selection of old antiques and wares on the top of his boat which he paints in the famous 'Canal folk art' style. I have always loved the colourful vibrant style of Canal folk art but I didn't know anything about it until meeting Duncan. So when he invited us aboard to show us his work and give us a demonstration, I jumped at the chance. Duncan is a self-taught artist and used to specialise in oil paints and animal portraits. But it wasn't until 20 years ago he turned his hand to creating and selling canal folk art. "I was sat on the boat painting a teapot, a lady stopped by and asked if it was for sale, so I told her to come back in 10 minutes and it would be!" Now he even demonstrates in schools, and is often commissioned by other boat owners. Duncan decorates all sorts with this style, especially old fashioned wares such as old watering cans, tea pots, urns, and even old boots. I had a lovely afternoon with Duncan and learned a lot in the brief time I spent with him; about the realities of boat-living, the interesting history behind folk art and how to paint in the folk-art style. He also makes a cracking cuppa tea!

Duncan started out in the Navy as a young man, and later became a fireman at Stansted Airport. He met Zena, and together they ran their own guest house. Once their children were grown, they decided they needed a change, as the pressure of running a guest house was taking its toll. So they shut up shop for a couple of days, and while strolling along the canal one afternoon Zena suggested they sell up and buy a boat to live on. Duncan jumped at the idea, and after looking at various houseboats for sale they decided to have one made - specifically for them. Once built they named their new home boat 'Zendu' by combining their names .... how romantic! The boat is just lovely, inside and out. Duncan gave me a tour and I was smitten within minutes. It was so homely and cosy, and not at all cramped or confined. There is everything you'd expect to find in a house, a bathroom, a cosy bedroom, a kitchen, family photographs on the walls, bookcases, lovely knick-knacks and of course areas of the boat are decorated in the canal folk art style which just looks fantastic. I asked Duncan what he loved most about boat living. He replied "Everything. You can travel up and down the country and see places you'd never normally get to see, whether it's little thatched villages or wonderful countryside. We simply find somewhere we like, moor up and head off to explore ... but one thing about boat living is, you have to both want to do it. Zena is a real treasure, she absolutely loves it. Though she does hate water, she's fallen in twice and nearly ended up in hospital."

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CANAL FOLK ART

There is some dispute about the origins of canal folk art. Many think it was

RUSTIC LIVING

Jodie May writes about craft, nature and a rural life influenced by the gypsy culture and their vibrant painted wagons back in the 18th and 18th century, but historians have also seen similarities in German and Scandinavian folk art. But the flourish of canal folk art in the UK was actually down to the womenfolk. During the Victorian era boatmen began bringing their wives and families on board their boats as crew in a bid to save money. The Victorian land-dwellers would often look down their noses at the boat families so the womenfolk began decorating their boats in order to make their living space bright and attractive.

HOW TO PAINT IN CANAL FOLK STYLE

This style of folk art is all about layering as you will see in these step by step pictures. The colours are simply primary colours, as that's all they would have available back in the day.

JUST REMEMBER THE FOLLOWING TIPS ...

- Only use oil-based paint, not water-based.
- Allow it to dry completely in between each stage of painting.
- If your object is going outside don't forget to weatherproof it with an exterior varnish.
- either use a different brush for each colour or wash / dry your brush well in-between coats.
- You will need:
  - An object to paint
  - Small selection of oil paints in primary colours
  - Small selection of artist paint brushes

STEP 1:

You can either source an object that is already black, or simply paint it black yourself using black oil paint. When you're ready to begin, using your paintbrush start by adding your flower locations (See brown and pink blob) and the leaf locations (green blobs) in picture 1.

STEP 2

Add a black swirl onto the leaves and brown blob to give it depth, and do the same with a red paint on the pink flowers blob. Then outline the outside with a bright yellow.

STEP 3

Using a thin brush and light touch, add alternating yellow and white leaf feathering on each green leaf. Followed by the 3 blue circles (which are your daisy locations) with green leaves either side of them.

STEP 4

Next add the yellow to the daisy leaves and fill in the blue daisy centre with yellow too - allow to dry. Add the red petals to your rose and allow to dry. The finally complete the design by adding white petals to your daisy and the white petals to the centre flower.

If you'd like to buy some canal folk art from Duncan and Zena you'll often find them on the canal, near the bridge on station road. You can access the canal path just after crossing the bridge next to the Nuffield gym.

'I love the fact that a live show can't be replicated'

RICH Hall, is the American comic who has captured our British hearts with his cantankerous, deadpan wit. Famous for his rants of outrage and his quick fire banter with the audience, he is currently enlightening the country with his latest tour, Rich Hall: Live.

He sends up whichever country he is in, but perhaps reserves his most scathing scorn for his native USA.

His critically acclaimed grouchy, deadpan style has established him as a master of absurdist irony and the king of rapid-fire wit. This is a comedian who's plain spoken growling indignation and acerbic observations have an unerring talent for hitting his targets with precision every time, leaving his audience hanging on every word winning him fans all over the globe.

Rich has also become well known for his television and radio work. Notable UK appearances include regular slots on Stand Up For The Week, QI, Live At The Apollo and Have I Got News For You.

On being back on tour again he said: "I love the fact that when a live show is over, it's gone" he says. "It's happened and it will never happen like that again. It can't be replicated. That's a great magical moment."

Rich who is also an accomplished author, and has released three books, Magnificent

Bastards, I Blame Society and Things Snowball, all published by Abacus Books, said he thrives on the spontaneity of live comedy.

"In every single show there are always two or three moments where I'm thinking, 'Wow, where did that come from?'. You're constantly thinking on your feet," he explains.

"Every year I try to tour out of the way places. Last year it was Norway. This year it is the Hebrides. I like to go to places where I'm not worried about competition from other comedians! Audiences also love the fact that you have made the effort to play there."

One of the many unique features of Rich's act is that he goes out of his way to find out about the town he is playing in and then improvises a song on stage about it. He goes the extra mile to tailor-make his material for that particular venue.

He says that audiences really appreciate this bespoke approach to comedy.

"Once they realise you're not just trotting out your regular act, people think, 'He's made a real effort. He's on our side, so we're on his side'. Then you can take them anywhere."

"I like to do something custom-made every night, otherwise you would just be like a robot. That can really wear you down. Nobody gets more sick of hearing their own voice than a comedian."

If you fancy hearing Rich Hall's take on life then he will be performing at the Hertford Theatre, Hertford on Friday, September 16.

Tickets for the show, which runs for 110 minutes are £16.

It is suitable for ages 14 and above, with parental discretion advised as there is likely to be swearing and adult content.

HOMES

A FAMILY HOME IN CHURCH LANGLEY

INTERIORS >with LESLEY TAYLOR

For a traditional property opt for retro-inspired tiles such as the London Trafalgar range from The Baked Tile Company, www.bakedtiles.co.uk

Tuck the edge of the rug under the sofa to give the illusion of an endless floor

Solid wood flooring can be just as cosy as carpet with the right accessories

Ground force

The allure of carpet is easy to understand. It's comfortable underfoot; it feels warm, especially during the dark winter months and, if fitted correctly, can unify an entire home.

But when it comes to the style stakes carpet can often fall a little wide of the mark and run the danger of spoiling your home's overall look.

Fortunately, there are plenty of options to take your flooring to the next level with solutions to suit all budgets, and of course, tastes.

Make a statement

If you love the comfort of carpet but want a break from its monotony a statement rug will add colour and contrast and help protect your carpet from everyday wear, tear and spillages.

But choosing the right rug is paramount. A small rug will define the room and make the space seem smaller.

In the living area, my interior designers always advise our clients to pick a large rug that will tuck under the feet of the sofa and spread comfortably throughout the rest of the room. By hiding the edge of the rug you are creating an illusion of endless floor space instead of highlighting one small section of it.

To add another layer in the bedroom use a rug to frame the area around the bed. Again, go for a large rug to add a two-foot border around each side of the bed.

And if you're worried about your rug moving on the carpet invest in some carpet pads. There are plenty on the market to ensure your rug stays firmly in place.

If you fancy forgoing carpet completely wooden flooring could be the way forward.

For those on a tighter budget laminate is a safe option.

Laminate flooring has come a long way in the last decade and a good-quality laminate will look extremely similar to authentic wooden floors.

In addition, laminate flooring is extremely hard-wearing and easy to lay with planks that lock together – saving money on professional installation.

That being said, no matter how good the laminate looks, there's no getting away from the fact it's not the real thing.

Solid choice

Solid wood flooring is exactly that – flooring planks made from a single piece of wood. And while it can be pretty pricey in comparison to its laminate counterpart, solid wood floors look fantastic especially in high traffic areas like hallways. Plus, the money spent could prove to be a savvy investment as solid wood flooring is extremely appealing to house buyers.

Tiles are fantastically versatile and no matter what look you are going for you can find a tile range to suit.

From retro-inspired collections paying homage to decades past to ultra-modern designs that boldly break barriers, the wealth of choice is endless.

What's more, ceramic and porcelain tiles are some of the most durable flooring options available. Not only are they extremely hard-wearing they are also pretty stain resistant with most marks easily removed with a little bit of elbow grease.

There is an abundance of flooring options available. Check out the range at The Baked Tile Company, www.bakedtiles.co.uk

And in the very unlikely event of a single tile cracking or breaking, the individual tile can be replaced relatively cheaply.

LESLEY'S TIPS

- Choose your most important flooring factor to help decide whether you want to stick with carpet or try something new.
- Consider your budget. Flooring varies greatly in price so get the best you can comfortably afford.
- One size does not fit all – double check your measurements before you order any materials as mistakes can be costly.
- Unless you're a DIY expert get a professional to fit your flooring. It needs to last a long time so do get it done properly.
- Rugs, runners and regular cleans will all help your flooring last longer.

Use rugs to add layers and texture

By John Murdoch

THE Ford Mustang is one of the most famous cars of all-time – a true American icon – and at long last we can now buy it in the UK.

Ford's most famous product has never been officially available here and special imports that have been brought to these shores have all been left-hand drives.

On sale for over 50 years, the Mustang has gained cult status and is one of the most recognised cars across the globe.

Available in coupe and convertible body styles and with a choice of two engines, the current Mustang was designed from the start as a global car, and it has been on sale in the USA for the past two years.

Penned by a design team headed by Scot Moray Callum, brother of Jaguar's design director Ian, UK cars are available with Ford's impressive 5.0-litre V8 or a slightly more economical 2.3-litre four-cylinder turbo EcoBoost engine and you can match both to six-speed manual or automatic gearboxes.

The Mustang certainly looks stunning and is surprisingly affordable. You can tell just by looking at it that this car means business and its bulging bonnet seems to go on for ever while its muscular wheelarches, huge alloys and shark-like front end add to the drama.

If you want the car that handles best on our roads you should opt for the coupe. Both the coupe and the convertible have fully independent front and rear suspension resulting in more European handling but the convertible naturally suffers from losing the roof and it is more of a cruiser.

You can feel more flex in its body on rough surfaces or tight corners but it is a price worth paying if you really want to pose.

I managed to get my hands on the convertible model with the 5.0-litre V8 and automatic gearbox costing £39,995 – a real bargain when compared to prestige European models that can't match the Mustang's power or dramatic looks.

The V8 does cost an extra £4,000 but it is well worth the extra cash. Fire it up and you get that superb burble from the exhaust and you can really enjoy the noise with the roof down.

It is good for 62mph in just 4.8 seconds before going on to a top speed of 155mph.

Running costs with emissions of 289g/km and an average 22mpg will not be cheap but that will not matter to most owners.

The Mustang features selectable drive modes operated via toggle switches in the centre console and these can be used to adjust the electronic stability control, throttle responses, automatic gear-shift patterns and steering to match Normal, Sport+, Track or Snow/Wet settings. There are also options to adjust the weight and feel of the steering.

The acceleration is blistering and the steering light and precise while the Brembo brakes fitted to the 5.0-litre help you to slow it down quickly when you need to.

Inside the Mustang offers bags of equipment coupled with some neat retro touches and all the latest technology including an eight-inch colour touchscreen with a nine-speaker sound system with SYNC 2 connectivity to multi-media devices. You also get Bluetooth, a rear view camera and lots of other toys.

Fork out an extra £795 and you add sat nav with a premium a 12-speaker Shaker Pro Premium audio system.

Some of the plastics are a bit scratchy and not up to top European standards but this car has so much going for it that you won't care.

With four seats and a decent sized boot, the Mustang convertible is also surprisingly practical.

It attracts attention everywhere you go and 99 per cent of it is positive with other motorists and pedestrians admiring its sensational looks and fabulous noise.

As you would expect, demand has exceeded supply and if you order now you may have to wait up to a year to get behind the wheel of a legend – trust me the wait will be worth it.

Harlow on promotion hunt with Sea in sight

Skipper hails 'team performance' after Hadleigh win

by Matt Mundy

sportsdesk@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT WAS a tense finish at Marigolds as Harlow Cricket Club, with only two wickets remaining, managed to beat Hadleigh & Thundersley and keep the club amongst the pack chasing promotion in Essex Cricket League Division One.

Captain Rehman Ahmed hailed a "team performance" after a great start by the bowlers left Hadleigh reeling at 29-3, the wickets being shared between Mustanser Meraj, Nicky Baxter and Callum Sykes.

Ahmed believes they are still in with a shot at promotion with a crucial game at Southend-on-Sea this weekend.

"We're a little bit more known for one person putting their hand up with the bat or the ball, but everyone chipped in and it was an all-round team performance," he said.

Inroads

"I lost the toss and I knew the opposition captain would bat first. The wicket was an absolute road and as soon as I lost it, I thought we would be in for a long day.

"But we made some early inroads and to be honest we should have killed the game off there and then.

"We missed some half chances but credit to their captain Adam Soilleux who stuck in and got 80-odd."

Hadleigh were indebted to Soilleux and Sam Handley for a terrific century partnership. Soilleux eventually being caught by Jake Messenger off Mitch Howarde for 84.

Hadleigh's lower order were only able to offer Handley modest support and when he was dismissed, caught and bowled by Mustanser for 66, the away side were condemned to what appeared a below par score of 222.

It was the first occasion that wicketkeeper Alan Jones had taken five catches in an innings, but that was as good as it got for the youngster as Richard Revell sent his off-stump cart-wheeling early in the Harlow reply.

"They bowled really well," Ahmed added.

"The opening spell was probably one of the best I've seen all season. He did bowl well at the top.

"Kawaja and myself went out with the intentions to get the rate back up, which we did.

"Kawaja hit quite a few boundaries before he was given lbw."

Skipper Ahmed soon followed for 34, not waiting for the umpire's decision after edging a ball to the keeper.

Good contributions from Ubaid (25), Baxter (35) and Howarde (23) kept Harlow in contention but the home side were losing wickets at an alarming rate and were reduced to 182-8.

A terrific partnership of 43 by Mustanser (17no) and Messenger (16no) saw Harlow home, the latter sealing the win with a four.

It was a curious innings as Harlow made hard work of a run chase and yet eight out of ten batsmen reached double figures.

Now, a crucial game awaits Harlow on Saturday, away to second place Southend-on-Sea.

"We are mid-table but only 20 points off second place and we play them, Southend, this coming weekend.

"If we can get 20 points against them and again the following week, we'll be right in the mix.

"The target is always to get promoted, but we need to play well because they won't roll over.

"I don't see Upminster getting knocked off [top spot], but second spot is up for grabs.

"Hopefully we can pinch it at the end."

Town fall to a heavy defeat

CRICKET: Harlow Town were heavily beaten by Old Southendians & Southchurch by 162 runs on Saturday.

Old Southendians won the toss and elected to bat and got off to a solid start with Johnston and Craddock's partnership of 61.

That was before Johnston on 34 nicked one behind to Neil Gladwin at first slip off Hassan Ali's bowling.

Craddock continued to push on with Bunce before Hassan clean bowled him on 57, leaving the hosts on 138-2.

Ashley Alderson had Bunce caught on 45 by Shiraz Ali. Johnson was dismissed by Farmer on 1, Ashley Alderson catching his incredibly high skied shot.

Wickets continued to fall but at the end of the 50 overs Old Souths had set 271-8.

In reply, openers Baldwin and Ashley Alderson's partnership was soon torn apart by Aussie Johnson's pace.

Shiraz Ali and skipper Gladwin were then left to restart the innings, but the quality of the bowling and the pace combined with the regular short pitched ball made options limited.

Shiraz Ali eventually fell on 29 with the score on 88-3.

Wickets kept falling and with the score on 105-8 Elston and Hassan Ali were left at the crease but only for a few balls before Hassan Ali's stump was seen cartwheeling by Johnson and he was gone for a duck.

With plenty of overs still in hand the task was now simple for the final pair, 21 runs for a batting point.

It was not to be though as Town were comprehensively out-bowled and ended up all out on 109 off 35.4 overs.

Harlow boxers get workout

UP TO 30 youngsters including eight from the Ladyshot-based Harlow Amateur Boxing Club took part in an inter-club sparring session organised at Bishop's Stortford Boxing Club.

The youngsters aged from eight to 13 enjoyed almost three hours of sparring against a variety of different opponents, and for some the daunting experience being the first time outside of their own club gym headquarters.

Each participant received a neck pendant award.

Paul Allen, coach with HABC, said: "The morning went really well and we were pleased with the club progress and junior performances, we expect a thriving number of juniors to come through the ranks over the next couple of years."

HAWKS UP FOR BIG KICK-OFF

Kingstonian visit the Arena

by Matt Mundy

MANAGER Danny Chapman has set his sights on a top-half finish for Harlow Town FC this season and says his players aren't fazed by the challenge.

The Hawks make their Ryman Premier return this weekend at home to Kingstonian, who since gaining promotion from the Ryman South in 2008/09 have not finished lower than 11th.

Chapman will look at the K's as a model for what he wants to achieve at the Arena, but is under no illusions about how difficult this season will be.

"They're all going to be tough games," said Chapman. "But if you look at Kingstonian, they were very close to the play-offs last year and the year before, so they're obviously a team with ambition."

"It's a tough start, but a start that we're relishing and we'll look to hopefully kick off our own season with three points."

"We can't be more prepared than what we are."

"We're fit, which is the main thing from a pre-season, and with regards to the structure of the side and the way we want to play, everyone has understood their role."

"Our aim is to establish ourselves as a Ryman Premier club."

"What we don't want to do is what's happened in recent years with teams that have gone up from our division, and that's either just beat relegation or be relegated."

"We want to finish in the top half of the table. We set ourselves targets and then we re-evaluate them every few months."

"Depending on how the first two or three months go, our goal will then change. But the worst case scenario we want to finish in is the top half of the table."

It's an ambitious target for an ambitious club.

Not many associated with the club will be expecting to follow the Kingstonian blueprint of getting into the play-offs in their first season after promotion, but Chapman believes there will be a similar mentality.

"We won't be fazed," he added. "All of the boys have played at this level or higher anyway, so it's not completely new to them."

"And I think as a group we've got nothing to be fazed about to be honest."

"I'm not disrespecting anyone when I say that. It is a higher league, a better league with better players."

"But we're more than capable of competing at this level and we're not looking to go in there just to take part."

"We're going in to try to achieve something and I don't see them being fazed by it. We've got no reason to be fazed."

Injuries

One player who won't be involved on Saturday is Ryan Melaugh.

The wide man will find out this week just how long his dislocated shoulder will sideline him for.

The Hawks boss is likely to bring a couple more in, but not before the curtain raiser this weekend.

"The injuries that we've got, we're going to have to bring in one or two more just to make sure we're OK in case of further injuries, otherwise we could be leaving ourselves really short," Chapman added.

"It won't be before Saturday now. We've still got players that are more than capable of doing the job, which hasn't been the case before."

Athletes wind up season in youth league

HARLOW Athletic Club's youngsters concluded their Eastern Young Athletes' League season with a creditable fifth place finish in a seven-team match at Chelmsford.

The result meant that the team finished in 19th place overall in the 29-team league, which is significant progress for one of the league's smaller teams.

The day's events began with the hurdles and Ami Ashby, in the U15 girls' section, recorded her fastest time of the season in 12.6sec.

Her positive start galvanised the team and was followed by strong performances across the disciplines particularly for the U15 and U17 age groups.

Teiye Richards recorded a season's best 12.7s in the U15 boys' 100m.

Louise Owen lowered her personal best (PB) in the girls' event to 13.4s while Anna Clatworthy jumped a new PB of 1.50m in the high jump.

Savanna Sirkett ran an impressive 47.2s in the 300m and Jamie Putt ran the 800m in a new best time of 2min 15.8sec while Sam Collins picked up first place in the B event.

Fine season

For the U17s, Bethany Harryman recorded two new PBs to cap a fine season. She sprinted in the 80m hurdles in 13.2s and increased her shot put PB to over ten metres.

Leo Chaschin also set two new PBs in the triple jump, 11.89m, and long jump, 5.63m.

Tino Gavazah posted new bests in the shot put, 9.19m, and javelin, 34.33m.

There were also two relay results of note for Harlow.

A hastily put together U17 men's team ran the 4x100m in 48.8 seconds and the U15 girls recorded their best time of the season in 53.7 seconds.

After the match Steve Lott, club chairman, said: "I've been involved for ten years now and have only known bottom three finishes for the youth team section."

"So to record more than 2000 points and finish at least 16 places higher represents a fantastic effort on behalf of the athletes, coaches and volunteers."

"I am very proud of what they're doing and look forward to greater success in the coming seasons."
